THE 1951 TIGERS

Only three out of thirty-eight players listed on the 1951 Tiger roster, will be making their first appearance at the Lakeland, Fla., training camp. They are Earl D. Johnson, left-handed pitcher, former member of the Red Sox, who was obtained from Louisville in October; Infielder Stephen Souchock, once a Yankee, drafted from the Oakland, Pacific Coast League club, and Wayne McLeland, right-handed pitcher acquired in a trade with the Seattle Club, in January, for Pitcher Marvin Grissom and Infielder George Vico.

Fifteen pitchers, four catchers, eleven infielders and eight outfielders comprise the squad which will be working out, March 1, unless the U. S. military program reduces the number before that date. As this booklet went to press, the Tigers had lost two pitchers to the National Defense Service. They are Arthur J. Houtteman, a nineteen-game winner in 1950 and Thaddeus Kapuscinski, a right-handed Detroit product who had a record of 10 and 12, with the Little Rock and Toledo clubs, last year.

It is Houtteman's departure, plus doubt concerning the return to form of Pitcher Virgil Trucks, which has given General Manager Evans and Manager Rolfe their biggest worry. Trucks, the club's leading pitcher in 1949, with nineteen victories, unquestionably was a big factor in the Tigers' loss of the pennant by a margin of three games last year. Coming down with a sore arm in May, he never returned to the lineup. His contribution for the season was the pitching of only forty-eight innings in seven games for a record of three and one.

Veteran hurlers Hal Newhouser, Fred Hutchinson, Paul Trout, Hal White and Ted Gray will again be available along with Paul Calvert, Hank Borowy, Marlin Stuart and Saul Rogovin. Of the young pitchers going to camp (whose status may be affected by the draft) Raymond Herbert, with a record of eleven and twelve with Toledo, before being brought up to Detroit, late in the season, is regarded as the most likely prospect. Kenneth Fremming, with Buffalo, last season and Arthur McConnell, of Toledo and Little Rock, are two other youngsters who will be given a chance to show their wares.

Aaron Robinson and Bob Swift, who did the bulk of the catching last year, will be back again along with Frank House, highly publicized bonus player and Myron "Joe" Ginsberg. House saw little service last year but it is Manager Rolfe's intention to make much greater use of him and the aggressive Ginsberg, this season, unless they do not come up to expections at the training camp.

It seems likely that the Tiger infield will look much as it did in 1950, with Kell at third, Lipon at short, Priddy at second and either Kolloway or Kryhoski at first. Infielder Steve Souchock, acquired from the Sacramento club, principally because he is a right-handed hitter, may also be given a chance at first. There is also a possibility that Billy Evans may succeed in his efforts to obtain greater strength in that position, before the opening of the season.

Although there are eight contestants for the outfield spots, the 1950 performance of Evers, Wertz and Groth should find them in their customary locations. Pat Mullin and Charlie Keller will also be around, just in case. The other candidates are Johnny Creel, George Lerchen and Carl Linhart, the latter a native of Czechoslovakia.

Brief Review of the 1950 Season

Red Rolfe's intelligent direction of the Tigers enabled them to occupy the top rung in the league standings, for virtually two-thirds of the 1950 season, but a badly crippled pitching staff and a lack of reserves proved too big a handicap for ultimate triumph.

As late as July 17, with slightly more than half of the schedule played, the club enjoyed a four and one-half game lead over the Yankees. It was cut to three and one half, by Aug. 21 and to two, by Labor Day. From that date on, the Tigers began to lose ground which they did not recover and they were eliminated definitely from the pennant race September 29.

Attendance at the home games totaled 1,951,474, the highest in the club's history. Nearly one-third of this number or 616,269, turned out for the fourteen night games.

Until adversity struck the pitching staff, the club appeared to be stronger than it had been for several seasons. Evers, Groth and Wertz had their greatest seasons. All three hit over the .300 mark and accounted between them for 311 r.b.i.'s. In addition Evers, established a new American League record for outfielders, by handling 341 chances with but one error.

Infield play in 1950 was also superior with George Kell playing his customary fine game, and Johnny Lipon showing improvement. Jerry Priddy's performance added much strength to the club, where it had been weak for years. Jerry also broke a major league record for second sackers, by participating in 150 double plays.
